

Where do you see the disconnect between worship and heart in Micah's day—and where do you see that same danger today?

Why do you think God begins by reminding Israel of what He has done for them? What are some ways you personally remember God's faithfulness?

In verses 6–7, the people assume God wants bigger and greater sacrifices. Why do we still tend to think this way about God?

Which part of Micah 6:8—doing justice, loving kindness, or walking humbly—comes most naturally to you? Which is most challenging right now?
